

Qualification Overview

Qualification Title	New Zealand Diploma in Information Systems (Level 6) with strands in Business Analysis, User Experience, IT Project Management, Information Systems Innovation, and Data Analysis
Qualification Type	Diploma
Level	6
Credits	120
Subject Area	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Information Technology » Information Systems » Information Systems not elsewhere classified</li></ul>
Strategic Purpose Statement	This qualification was co-developed by IT Professionals New Zealand (ITPNZ) and NZQA National Qualifications Services (NQS). The purpose of this stranded qualification is to provide Aotearoa New Zealand with people who have attained ... [expand]
Graduate profile	Graduates of this qualification will be able to: - Apply in-depth skills and knowledge in systems investigation, analysis, and review of business logic and processes to design, implement and validate enterprise solutions, to ... [expand]
Education pathways	This qualification provides an education pathway from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- New Zealand Diploma in Information Systems (Level 5) [Ref: 2597]</li><li>- New Zealand Diploma in Web Development and Design (Level 5) [Ref: 2598]</li></ul> Further education pathways ... [expand]
Employment pathways	Graduates of the Business Analysis strand may be employed as entry-level business analysts, systems analysts or process mappers. Graduates of the User Experience strand may be employed in roles within teams such as user ... [expand]
Entry Requirements	None.
Education Organisation	5 Organisations can assist in gaining this qualification
Developed By	New Zealand Qualifications Authority
Quality Assured By	New Zealand Qualifications Authority
Number	2603
Status	Current
Created	May 2015
Next Review	May 2025

